Voters Must Change Party Affiliation By December 31 To Participate

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (12/27/2023): The final day for Kentucky voters to change their political party and still participate in the upcoming 2024 Primary Election on Tuesday, May 21 is quickly approaching. In accordance with KRS 116.055, December 31, 2023 is the last day to re-register with a new political party affiliation and still be eligible to vote in that party's upcoming primary election, and voters must do so before 11:59 p.m.

"Primary Elections are the first chance the people have to make their voices heard at the ballot box, and while every election is important, 2024's is already capturing a lot of attention," said Bobbie Holsclaw, Jefferson County Clerk. "Your participation in the primary process gives you a say in the future of our country, but if you want to do so as a member of another political party, now is the time to make a change."

The fastest, easiest way for voters to update their registration with a new party affiliation is to visit govoteky.com and click on the New/Update Registration button. Changes must be made by December 31, 2023, before 11:59 p.m.

Voters can also update their registration in person at any Jefferson County Clerk's Office location but must do so before locations close at 4:30 p.m. Friday, December 29, 2023.

If voters change party after December 31, 2023, they may still vote in the Primary Election, but only for non-partisan races.
